500 CHILDREN HELP SWAT THE KAISER BY RAISING WAR GARDENS

SCHOOL CHILDREN OF CITY ENLIST IN U. S. SCHOOL GARDEN ARMY TO HELP IN CEREAL FOOD SUPPLY.

PROF. WEST DIRECTOR

Final Tour of Inspection Being Made By Prof. A. B. West, Chairman of Commerce Now Co-Operating and Will Award Medals.

Because greater food production in America means a powerful blow against the kaiser, Janesville children have set out to give him a walloping. More than 500 boys and girls in the city have enlisted in Uncle Sam's School Garden Army and under the direction of Prof. Allen B. West are working hard to raise vegetables of every description in a legion of war gardens at home and in vacant lots in the city.

Before the war practically the whole category of known vegetables, and the answer is the same—the children are raising "em. Prof. Allen B. West, director of the school gardens, says that the children are raising everything that grows in the garden. They are raising corn, beans, peas, cabbages, turnips, they are all doing it. And the gardens are well kept. As of them are as free from weeds as a mother's polished kitchen floor, rows of plants stand straight and they are kept well hoed. The next generation promises to be a race of super-gardeners. The enthusiasm of the children is declared Professor West, who has been giving his entire time to the directing of the school gardens. "The general condition of the gardens is very favorable, although it is inevitable that out of 500 and more children, some will be indifferent. But the school is helping to increase the food supply they are receiving an educational benefit in learning to get together and working for a common end."

The second and last tour of inspection of the school gardens was started by Professor West until all have been visited. The Chamber of Commerce is now actively co-operating in the inspection of the gardens. An auto and driver are furnished to the school every day to make his tour of inspection. Children whose gardens show that work has been performed on them are given the insignia of the United States School Garden Army. The list of twenty-five or more school gardens will be made out from this final inspection, and the best of these gardens will be named by the Chamber of Commerce. Exactly fifteen boys and girls from the four grade through the high school, and from the age of 8 years up, are cultivating gardens. Besides the school garden there are high school gardens, many of them doing the work of regular farm hands. Many of these gardens are receiving school credit. April, and are receiving school credit for farm help from the state council of defense, even the girls stepped forward and volunteered. Twelve "farward volunteers" from the high school are working on farms, and according to Professor West, who has charge of them and receives monthly reports from both boys and girls, they do not hesitate to do overalls and get out in the fields to drive mowers and binders. The names of these twelve girls are: Ruth Barrett, Alice Campbell, Alice Pinnau, Eleanor Crook, Gwen Aldrich, Decker, Lucile Hebel, Gladys Norton, Mildred Peckham, Mable Ransom, Vernice Bennett, Harriet Torwilliger and Winifred Wilcox.

In organizing the children for the school garden movement, lieutenants were appointed for each of the eleven grade schools in the city and for the high school. Under the high school, a corporal was appointed for each grade, who, in turn, took charge of the privates. The city was divided into four districts, each one headed by a high school lieutenant. The privates are: John Taylor, first ward, Edmund Pitt, second ward, David Atwood, third ward, and Kenneth Bick, fourth ward. The lieutenants are: Grant James, Franklin Lincoln, John Clark, Washington, Kenneth Vixon, Jefferson, Gerald Van Pool, Adams, Kenneth Barriage, Jackson, Ruth Gruesz, Garfield, Marat, Clark, Webster, Constance Dalton, St. Mary's, Frederic Philie, St. Patrick's, Paul Young, St. Paul's, Esther Thom.

The inspection of the gardens is taken up by certain grades are notified to have the privates under their ready to appear when their gardens are inspected. At Professor West goes from home to home inspecting the work of the children. Each child is taken in the auto to look at other gardens and see how his companions are progressing. The incentive to work harder in his patch of ground so that his garden will appear as well as others he has seen. Four community gardens have been particularly cultivated. These are on vacant lots on Western avenue, Chestnut street, Prairie avenue, and Highland avenue.

Harmful insects and fungus have done some small amount of damage to potatoes and beans, but bulletins have been given out by the inspector telling how to take care of these mischievous creatures. Fumigation in garden protection against insects have been supplied by the state council of defense. Professor West sends in reports on the condition of the school gardens every week to the school board and the state department of education.

Besides their service as "soldiers of the soil," the children have been asked by the bureau of education of the Department of the Interior to write letters to one or more soldiers at the front. All through the country, and are writing to the soldiers and are telling them about their gardens, what they planted, and how well they care for them. The effect on the soldier is to give him new strength and to bring him close to home. They will

WILL MAKE BATHING BEACH ON THE WEST SIDE OF THE RIVER

First Ward Residents Plan to Build Bath House on Property Known As the First Sand-bar.

Swimming fans of the first ward are anxious to have a bathing beach on the west side of the river so that they will not be required to cross the river to the Goose Island bathing beach, when they desire to swim. A number of swimmers have volunteered to do the work necessary to make a suitable beach and work will be commenced by them this evening. What is known as the first sand-bar is the location of the proposed beach. Dr. Ira Holmsted, owner of the property, has given his consent to the first ward people to fix up the land, and the work of clearing away brush and trimming trees will be begun tonight. It is planned to construct a bath-house large enough to accommodate a large number of people.

The first sand-bar has been for many years been a popular place to swim, but lack of bathing facilities makes it necessary for people to swim at the other beach.

BOARD PHYSICIANS EXAMINE MEMBERS OF CLASS OF 1918

One Hundred and Ten New Registrants in Class One Examined Today at Postoffice.

Fifty-five new registrants were given their physical examinations at the postoffice this morning by the examining physicians of the local board. The remaining fifty-five men reported, early this afternoon for their examinations and it was planned to complete all the work today.

The men will be notified immediately of the results of their examinations and those who desire to appeal the decisions of the local board must do so immediately if they expect their claims to be considered.

The medical advisory board will meet at the high school in Beloit, Wisconsin, at ten o'clock for the purpose of re-examining the appealed cases. As this will be the last meeting of the board, it will be necessary for those from this district who make appeals, to be in Beloit on that day.

FRANK H. BAACK DIES IN ARIZONA

Former Resident of This City Dies Suddenly in Arizona—Was Formerly in Business Here and Well Known in This Community.

Frank H. Baack, a former resident of this city and widely known here, died suddenly in Arizona yesterday. Mr. Baack formerly resided in Milwaukee, where he was in the clothing store here on West Milwaukee street, and passed most of his early life here. He left here about five years ago and established a business at Harvard, Ill. From there he went to Walworth, Wis., and later to Milwaukee Junction. Some time ago he went south to Arizona where he had mining interests.

Mr. Baack was about 55 years of age, was married, and had a son, Howard, who is at Camp Funston, and a daughter, Mrs. Frederick Marshall of Harvard, Ill. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Gertrude B. Moore, of Chicago. The remains will be brought to Lake Geneva for burial.

INFORMS U. S. OF PANAMA'S REFORMS

William Jennings Price, American minister to Panama, is in Washington conferring with Secretary Lansing and other officials. He reports that reforms are being worked out in Panama and Colon by the American troops policing those cities. He states that saloons are being driven from the districts and the sale of intoxicants stopped. Intervention by the American troops apparently had been justified by the lack of disorder at the elections recently. Supervision of the American authorities also secured fairness in the elections.

OBITUARY

Francis Howe
Funeral services for the late Francis Howe were held at 10:30 o'clock this morning, from the home of Lucius Howe, 234 South Division street. The services were conducted by the Rev. Franklin F. Lewis.

The pall-bearers were Wellington Johnson, George Ashley, Eugene De lais, W. H. Green, A. J. Walker and Frank Sandmire. Interment was in Oak Hill cemetery.

John Murphy
The funeral of John Murphy was held this morning at 9 o'clock from St. Patrick's church. Requiem high mass was celebrated. Dean E. E. Reilly was the celebrant. Father James J. McGinnity of Milton Junction was off and much of the competition in the trade was therefore eliminated.

The pall-bearers were William Deet, Thomas Fox, J. J. Corbett, E. C. Braasie, John Connors and John Hanigan. The B. of R. T. attended in a body. The funeral was a large one and there were many beautiful flowers.

Mrs. James Plante
Mrs. James Plante passed away yesterday at Sun Prairie. She had been in this city for many years. The remains will be here Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock on the C. & N. W. road; and the funeral party will go direct to Oak Hill cemetery, where burial services will be held.

Travel Literature and Official Guide

The Gazette Travel Bureau has just received several pieces of travel literature on the Pacific Northwest and Summer Outings in Wisconsin and Michigan which are of value to those wishing to go. While the railway time-tables are being changed so frequently "The Official Railway Guides" can be relied upon for as definite information as possible these times. The Official Guide, a book of more than fifteen hundred pages, is republished and corrected each month and contains the time-tables of every transportation line in the country. It also includes every station and indicates the lines of railway running into it. The Gazette Travel Bureau is a subscriber to the Railway Guide and its use is free to the public.

CHICAGO MARKETS
Chicago, July 26.—Another record was established in the cattle market yesterday, when a consignment of choice Indiana steers brought $13.45. Buyers gobbled up the limited supply of choice cattle in a hurry. A lot of offerings brought $13.10; several notches above any previous sale of yearlings ever made on the market. A string of distillery-fed steers from Peoria made $13.25 to $13.40 a new record for that class of cattle.

The activity of buyers was a strong indication that they were short of finished steers and that they had weighed over 1,000 lbs found a quick outlet. Anything weighing less than 1,000 lbs., unless very good in quality, sold slowly and the lighter weight the harder it was to make a sale. Packers had an inning in the hog market and forced the market down 15 to 25c. This fall was not unexpectedly rapid for the past two weeks, values being over $2 higher than four weeks ago. The market had reached such a high level that the western shipping demand was practically cut off and much of the competition in the trade was therefore eliminated.

Sheep and lambs sold steady, with receipts moderate and demand fairly strong. Western sheep were received and none are expected till next week.

New Top For Cattle
The supply of 1,000 cattle included a few choice steers that were the best that have been here in some time. Competition was exceptionally keen for that kind. More sales were made above the $12 line than at any previous time and quite ordinary steers sold at $13 to $17.75.

Quotations:
Fancy steers $18.00@18.45
Good to choice steers 17.25@18.00
Common to med. steers 15.50@15.00
Yearlings 16.50@16.10
Canning cows and heifers 11.00@11.40
Canning cows and heifers 8.75@9.00
Native bulls and stags 7.75@13.00
Stockers and feeders 6.50@12.25
Poor to fancy calves 12.00@17.50
After an almost continuous advance for ten days, packers were able to stop the drive. The high prices practically cut off the shipping demand and therefore much competition in the market and local buyers were exceptionally timid. Packers hammered the market hard and got most of the hogs about 20c lower than Wednesday morning.

Quotations:
Light butchers $18.85@19.10
Light bacon 18.80@19.10
Good heavy 18.50@18.90
Mixed packing 17.25@17.60
Rough to heavy packing 16.00@15.00
Poor to best hogs 16.00@15.00

Lambs Close Lower
The market for sheep and lambs was strong and active at start, but finished dull and mostly 25c lower. Packers had in about 5,000 head of native lambs direct and were therefore rather dependent.

Quotations:
Good to choice native lambs $18.00@18.75
Common to med. lambs 15.50@17.75
Western lambs 16.50@18.50
Good native ewes 11.00@16.50
Yearlings 8.00@11.00
Common to med. ewes 14.75@16.50
Feeding lambs 14.75@16.50

DOES IT PAY?
Today you will read below a letter from a boy who is "somewhere over there" doing his bit for the United States and the world's democracy. He is a Janesville boy who sent a Christmas box to a soldier, designating no one in particular, who writes to thank her. The letter was read recently at a meeting of the Red Cross workers and the question arises: "Is this work worth while? Do the recipients appreciate the efforts of these hearty, willing American women in their effort to do something for those who are fighting our battles?" Read the letter and it will answer all these questions. "Does it pay?"

Winchester, Eng., July 3, 1918.
Dear Madam: You will no doubt be very surprised to hear from me, but I have reasons for being very indebted to you. I received a Christmas box with your name on it for 7,000 miles, and I am taking the liberty to thank you now. I realize that I should have thanked you long ago, but you must forgive my negligence as I really have been too occupied in the last few months to do any writing whatever. But I am in a position now where I can make up for all lost time and remedy all my thoughtlessness of the past few months. But the old maxim says that it is better late than never, so please forgive me and accept my thanks, as I hope you will, for I wish to express my gratitude to you for trying to cheer some soldier who never knew or knew and who means nothing to you. I cannot tell you how much you women of the Red Cross have done for our comfort and welfare, and I cannot help but praise you and thank you for the grand work you are carrying on. It is my greatest wish that you keep up the good work and may that the last few months be the last for me with you and us in our common cause for freedom. It is with these thoughts in view that I thank you once more and hope that you may cheer some other soldier's heart as you cheered mine.

Yours truly,
PRIVATE HARRY E. HILL,
Cas. Co. No. 2, Winchester, England.
I was formerly in the 127th Infantry from your state and my home is in Sheboygan.

The answer can be plainly read: "IT DOES!"

OVER THERE.
The news is good from "over there" these days and may it continue so. There is no need to think it will not be. The Kaiser was in a position to make his final drive before the Americans arrived, much as he appeared to despise them, but he failed. The results of the past ten days show the Americans are finding their own. They doing the impossible and standing beside their French brothers and working wonders.

Just read the tales of the prowess of our Americans. One Janesville man had a letter from his brother stating he had been in the trenches for weeks and just out for a bath and ready to go back. He told of bringing up supplies at night for his command and how just because a chain was broken in the stillness of the night hours the trenches opened fire and the coffee, which was slung on a pole in the trench, was shot down by the bullets. He was killed by one of the shots, and the pole slipped off and his detachment had no hot coffee that night.

One boy writes his father from France: "Dear Dad, I am here. Twice in the trenches and twice out. Going back again. Have two of my friends but can't run more to make for your little." That is the spirit of the Kaiser and the crown prince are afraid of. That is the spirit the Americans are taking into the fight with them, and behold it is the clean living, honest American who has a cause to fight for and is fighting his best.

"Over there" they are accomplishing wonders. We do not know all that is happening. Perhaps we never will, but later on truths will trickle through the pages of letters and into histories and books and magazines and newspaper columns, tales you would scarcely believe. They will be true and authentic and yet as like wonderful imaginative story you will question.

Our boys over here are making ready to go over there. Rock county sent out the last of its July quota on Thursday. Fifteen thousand Wisconsin men go in August. More will follow. General Putnam left his harvest field and rode one of his plow horses to camp to help with the war of independence. Can not we make as great sacrifices and win the war here at home and still send our fighting men away?

REST ROOM PROBLEMS.

What Janesville needs is a rude awakening that in caring for the wants of man and beast they have utterly failed to look after the needs and necessities of our women and children who visit the city. As has been pointed out at times without number, the "orn exchange" would make an ideal location for a public rest room that could be erected and maintained at a minimum cost to the city. The dollars and cents spent for a building needed, the pay for the attendant and janitor service, would more than pay for itself in a year in these days when the casual visitor is not unknown, and our friends from the suburban districts ride in after supper in their cars. The South River street has presented a problem to the Chamber of Commerce and it can not be overlooked. Until we have a municipal rest room centrally located and open to all, such conditions as the business men of South River street and the west side of the river, explained, existed, will continue unless some radical action is taken. It is safe to say the matter will be handled by the Chamber of Commerce for the time being, but it is a question for the future. Janesville is growing, and we must look beyond our noses into the future and prepare for the days to come. No use making a mountain out of a mole hill, but cut out the raps and take action while the necessity exists and do not wait until later. The time to do things is when they are opportune, and not when the need has passed by. There has been talk every year about a skating pond for the children in various localities—in the winter, of course—it has been found the soil is not suitable for ponds in many localities suggested, but with each year it comes up and each year we have no ponds. The same with the Rest Room. The ladies of the city are maintaining one now at their own expense, with assistance from the council. Another central structure is demanded. Why temporize? Take the bull by the horns and establish one and see how much it is patronized, and how essential it is to the health and welfare of the community.

One would expect every sort of information at the rooms of the county council of defense about every wounded man from Rock county. How bad his wounds were? When received, and details. They can be obtained, and to alleviate the mental anguish of the near relatives the telegraph was not to be used to obtain details not given in newspaper government dispatches. Columns were printed about young Roosevelt and his death, so why not obtain details for the home people about their sons who are fighting and dying—or wounded in the same cause. If more money is needed, say so, and let's raise it, but give those who demand facts, facts, and not indefinite replies.

These war gardens have been a wonderful work. The satisfaction of the youth in making something grow that is essential to mankind is payment enough for the hard hours spading and cultivating the little patch assigned to him that never did seem ready to grow anything but weeds.

It is all well and good to lock the door when the horse is stolen, but if the retail liquor dealers do not take a lesson from the police of other towns that have gone dry the federal government is going to step in and shut it and no one can say Uncle Samuel is not a gentleman, that when he says "close" it does not mean, close and close right away.

Time will demonstrate the truth of this statement, but within six months the actual value to the citizens of Janesville of the newly established Chamber of Commerce will not be counted in mere dollars and cents, but go a good bit higher.

That swimming bench is worth more per capital tax than anything else that has been created in Janesville in many years. If you do not believe it ask some of those who patronized it and see what they think.

No one can complain if the harvest is greater than expected, even if the threshers want more pay. Prices are higher than ever and consequently we expect higher harvests and better crops.

ON THE SPUR of the MOMENT

ROY K. MOULTON

Now that the income tax season is over, the motion picture stars have begun bragging again about the large salaries they receive.

A person who indulges in the insidious habit of playing the slide trombone, or slip horn, as it were, is a careless fellow. According to a local source, Andy Higgins, who tortures a poor slide trombone for the Amityville brass band, was hanging away at "The Stars and Stripes" for some time, and when reaching for a low note, shot his arm out, slid length and the slide hit a new $400 bonnet being worn by Mrs. Late Purdy and knocked said bonnet into a cocked hat. Mrs. Purdy was sitting in the first row with her husband. When her husband got through with Andy Higgins, folding chairs were laid up for repairs and the artistic atmosphere of the concert was entirely broken up.

It takes a lot of sand to be a soldier. Agin' the chargin' Hun to make a stand. But, though in other things there is a shortage. Thank God, I've never yet run out of sand.

BABIES.
"The biggest baby crop in years is being harvested, according to statistics from Washington. Old Dr. Stork is no slacker this year. He is right on the job. The figures for 1917 are available, and they show that the baby crop went over the top with a whoop and hurrah.

We thought we noticed it was noisier around here than it was just a few days ago. We just don't know the cause. Since we read the story from Washington we have been looking around. Yesterday we counted twenty-eight babycabs in one block. Of course, it is a long block and is lined with large apartment houses, but we maintain that twenty-eight babycabs at one time is some showing.

Aside from the babies in the cabs, there were exactly 173 children just beyond the baby age playing in the street. No matter what else becomes of this country, it doesn't look as though we are ever going to run out of population.

A million new babies in 1917. Some efficiency!

News from the Austrian front is to the effect that Gen. Wurm has not been able to execute a turning movement. An eastern man said to a friend the other day that his wife had been missing for three days. The friend said he had worse trouble than that. His automobile engine had been missing for a week.

Wilhelm.
"So am I, and, by gum, I'm going to have it," Uncle Sam.

Now that we have had our regular little war-meat scandal and have got it out of the way, everything will be lovely.

According to the Marion (Ohio) "Star," hipopotamus meat is as good as pork, but the chances are that a lot of hipopotami running about would musp up a backyard almost as much as chickens.

DOING STUNTS
Best time at our house is when Pa comes home from work, an' then After supper's over he Looks at Ma an' then at me, Puts his nupkin down an' grunts "But, wad better do wad stunts." Then I give a run an' jump Right up on him with a bump Catch him round the neck an' crawl Way up high an' never fall.

Sometimes too he lets me stand On his shoulder with his hand Steadyin' me awhile till I've Got myself all set to dive. Then he says: "Now let'er go!" An' headfirst I tumble low, But the floor I never meet 'Cos he holds me by the feet. An' between his legs I swing Just as slick as anything.

Then he lies upon the floor. An' he takes my hands once more An' I stiffen out an' he Tries to catch me on his knee. Sometimes though we fumble that An' I squash his stomach flat. An' he says "We're gettin' rough. Guess that one will be enough. But I beg for just one more. An' he swings me from the floor.

Ma's so tender-hearted, she Won't stay in the room to see All our tricks. She thinks I might Jump before Pa's got me tight. An' at times I get a fall, But it never hurts at all. For I'm big and strong an' I Take a bump an' never cry. That's the finest fun there is!

WHO'S WHO in the Daily News

Over thirty years ago John R. Mott, the generalissimo of the Y. M. C. A., decided that he would devote his life to religious work.

Instead of becoming a lawyer, an address made at Cornell university while Mott was a student there was the determining factor. It was made by Stud, an English missionary from China.

Mott was born in New York state, but he was brought up in Iowa. He was attending Cornell when he decided to avoid the religious influences of a denominational school. But the address of young Stud caused him to consecrate his life to religious work.

At the beginning of his first term President Wilson asked Mr. Mott to be our minister to China. Many wondered at the president's choice, but it caused no surprise among those who knew Mr. Mott. He is today general secretary of the international committee of the Young Men's Christian Association.

He began his work as a traveling secretary for the college "Y" associations. From this work he developed the student volunteer movement, of which he is chairman.

In 1895 he organized the World's Student Christian Federation, which today has a membership of 150,000 in all parts of the world.

From the beginning he has been secretary of the federation and from 1895 to 1897 toured the world in this connection.

Since 1898 Mr. Mott has been senior secretary of the foreign department of the Young Men's Christian Association and he has worked under him over one hundred secretaries, planting new associations in countries outside Europe and America. He also is head of the College Association of the United States and Canada.

All of this work has been fitting Mr. Mott for his present big job as the leader of the "Y" in the world war.

He has written many books, among them "Christians of Reality" and "Strategic Points in the World's Conquest."

One secret of his success is his ability to choose men and to inspire them. It makes one dizzy to get the least glimpse of the gigantic task that this war has brought to him. His time is planned out by the quarter of an hour, a year ahead.

Mr. Mott keeps himself "fit" for this big underload, physically fit by proper diet and exercise, mentally fit by using his mind hard and then resting it, by reading a detective story or by hearing good music; spiritually fit by prayer.

Perhaps after three generations have passed the world will realize how big has been the "bit" of John R. Mott. The men in the trenches, mentally fit to fight a moral fight owe much to this leader.

News Notes from Movieland

—BY DAISY DEAN—

It is not all fun, this being a comedienne, at least according to Fay Tincher, the little fun-maker who causes all the giggles in "Oh, Susie, Behave." She claims that it is work, hard work, and lots of it.

Four years ago Miss Tincher had not even seen a motion picture. She was busy on the Keith two-day circuit and thought that the speaking stage offered the only chance for support. She was approached one day by a strange man who asked her if she would care to act for the camera.

"I thought him very rude," said Fay. "I said I should not like it at all and turned my back on him."

"He didn't move off, but said, 'You resemble Mabel Normand so much that you would be splendid on the screen. I feel sure I never had been so sure of a picture show, didn't have the faintest idea who Mabel Normand might be, and consequently I was interested. Then he said, 'I want Mr. Griffith to see you. I am sure he will consider you a splendid type for the pictures. Will you call at this address tomorrow evening? I took the card and thought no more of it that day, but next day curiosity had me nibbling at the latch-string of Bloomingdale studio."

Mr. Griffith engaged me at once, had me play a vampire part—think of it—me—a vampire! At the end of three weeks, when the picture was finished, he put me into comedy, and there I've stuck ever since."

Now Miss Tincher has almost graduated from the slap-stick variety of comedy and is aiming at comedy drama, beginning with two reels, "The Girl Who Was a Vampire," and the same person, Miss Haver, and the two live together in a little bungalow.

Miss Tincher comes originally from Topeka, Kansas. She looks very much like a French girl.

She is a pretty little maid with white skin and pink cheeks and very shiny black hair and large brown eyes that are at once soft and dreamy and sharp businesslike person.

She is a very businesslike person and to see her one would never realize that she was the head of her own company and knew the motion picture business as thoroughly as she does. Fay Tincher productions as her releases will be known will be released through the World Film company.

Greens should not be blanched in hot water. They should be blanched in steam. This picture shows a simple method of blanching in steam, by placing them in a colander in a receptacle with tightly fitting cover. There should be not more than an inch or so of water on the bottom of the receptacle and the water should not touch the greens. A Steam Pressure Canner is excellent for use in blanching greens. The National War Garden Commission of Washington will send any reader a free canning book for a two-cent stamp to pay postage.

Van den Broek was drowned while filming "The Woman." He was standing on a rocky ledge trying to get a particularly effective bit of scenery when he lost his balance and plunged to his death. Van den Broek had "shot" during his career as man behind the camera such stars as Mary Pickford, Clara Kimball Young and Elsie Ferguson.

Another Comedienne.

While writing about comedienness some one has come and whispered that Mabel Normand, who became famous in the old slap-stick comedy and played with Charlie Chaplin long ago, is going to return to the stage. Mabel has been starring in Goldwyn pictures. She has been making very ladylike comedies and now she is going back to the rough stuff. Remember that this was only whispered to us. Mabel, however, would not tell us a thing about it.

CINEMA WILL HELP NATIONS TO UNDERSTAND

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, July 26.—"It is through the cinema that the nations of the world will get to understand each other; the cinema will be a tremendous power in cementing the projected league of nations which is to maintain a world peace," declares a writer in the London Evening News.

urging that British motion picture manufacturers should beset themselves to overcome American domination of the world market. Calling attention to the powerful influence of the screen in affecting the thought of the public, the writer further demands that the government, possibly through the colonial office, should assist in pushing British films on the markets of the empire and see that the heart of England is not Americanized.

"Ninety per cent of the ideals and sentiment emanating from British screens is American," the writer continued, according to a copy of the article transmitted in official dispatches to the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. "We shouldn't grumble. I am sure if 10 per cent of the ideals and 1 per cent of the sentiment shown on American screens were British. But they are not. American ideals and sentiment dominate the screens of the world."

"The British dominions, so far as the cinema is concerned, are in the hands of cinema 'kings' of the United States, some of them of German origin, but as keenly American as any we see the Stars and Stripes flutter on the screens of the world. There are few pictures nowadays in which 'Old Glory' does not get a look-in."

"Americanization of the world through the moving picture has been going on for the past four years. American ideals, the American flag, railway, stock, motor cars, police courts, food and amusements. To the people of the British empire, the greatest men of all time are George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. Nelson, Drake and Wellington have no share on the screen."

"Let us have some reciprocity with America," the article concludes. "Let us exchange our pictures and learn of one another. It is the only way to the world through the cinema. And it is going to have a big effect."

Read What Manager Zanias Says:

In presenting this big production we feel free to state that this is one of the very best pictures we have ever shown.

"The Unbeliever" played for a long time at the Studebaker Theatre in Chicago at prices ranging from 50c to $1.50 per seat. Our prices are popular prices.

We are indeed proud to be able to offer to the public of Janesville, at this time, such a wonderful patriotic picture as "The Unbeliever" which is based upon the book by Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews called "The Three Things", and are sure you will all want to see it.

War Movie Hero Wounded in France, U. S. Reports

Washington, D. C., June 27.—The fellow in the war movie "The Unbeliever" who clings to his Bible while he is being away at the Germans, has been reported severely wounded in the casualty lists from the war department. His name is Sgt. Moss Gill, of Perry Mo. Gill posed for the film last fall at Quantico, Va.

Appleton.—It is doubtful if there is any organization or society in this district better represented in the army of Uncle Sam than the little church known as the St. Joseph Mission at Dale. The Rev. Father J. H. Krumm, pastor of the church, states that by the end of the week all but one man of draft age will have been called or enlisted. The only man of draft age left in the parish has been granted a dependency exemption.

PETEY DINK—WHAT'S A LITTLE THING LIKE DROWNING WHEN ONE'S VANITY IS AT STAKE.

Gunner Depew

By ALBERT S. DEPEW

Ex-Gunner and Chief Petty Officer U. S. Navy—Member of the Foreign Legion of France—Captain Gun Turret, French Battleship Cassard—Winner of the Croix de Guerre.

Then the gun engine started up. They say the Old Man told the boys he was going to drive right ahead and that if the ship was sunk he would know that the enemy was somewhere in the vicinity. Well, they were headed right, but they never got past the Narrows. They stuck until the last minute, and those who went up, went up with the right spirit. "Are we downhearted?" they would yell. "No!" And they were not, either. They did not break when they put it over on the Turks, and they did not grow when they saw that their Red Caps had made mistakes. Their motto was "Try again," and they tried day after day. I do not know much about the histories of armies, but I do not believe there was ever an army like that of the allies in the Gallipoli campaign, and I do not think any other army could have done what they did. I take off my hat to the British army and navy alike.

It was hotter than I have ever known it to be elsewhere, and there was no water for the boys ashore but what the navy brought to them—sometimes a pint a day, and often none at all. The Turks had positions that you could not expect any army to take, were well supplied with ammunition and were used to the country and the climate. Most of the British army were green troops. It was the Anzacs' first campaign.

They were wonderful boys, those Australians and New Zealanders. Gear like men, all of them, and finely built, and they fought like devils. It was hand-to-hand work half the time; hardly any sleep, no water, sometimes no food. They made a mark there at Gallipoli that the world will have to go some to beat.

Our boys were on the job, too. We had our part of the work, and the time came for everybody to quit, and it was no picnic. The French should be very proud of the work their navy did there in the Dardanelles.

On our sixth trip I saw H. M. S. Goliath get it. She was struck three times by torpedoes and then shelled. The men were drenching and then in the water, with shrapnel cutting the waves all around them. Only a hundred odd of her crew were saved.

One day off Cape Helles, during our seventh trip at the Dardanelles, we sighted a submarine just about dinner time. The Prince George and a destroyer sighted the sub at the same time, and the Prince George let go two rounds before the periscope disappeared, but did not hit the mark.

MEN AND WOMEN IN FIGHTING TRIM

They Keep To The Top-Notch of Health

The spirit of the times demands perfect health and nerves, and keeping them up to the highest degree of efficiency.

Wise men and women have learned that it does not pay to allow health or nerves to run down but are quick to take advantage of Nature's greatest and blood and nerve tonic. Phosphated Iron, the minute they feel they are slowing up.

Whatever your work may be there is no reason why it should continue to the end of your work should only use the right amount of your energy. It is trying to work on your nerves and forcing yourself that wastes your strength, runs you down, gives you those restless nights, loss of appetite, and indigestion, when you get up in the morning and feel as if you want to go to bed. There is no sense in anyone being a victim of ill health, poor blood, overwork, nerves or the blues when Phosphated Iron will afford such prompt and permanent relief.

All over the country men and women in every walk of life by their good health, strength and nerves of iron the use of Phosphated Iron, the red blood and nerve builder, and it will also put you on your feet, make you feel like a live one. It produces results that last, that's what counts, no "fix" about it.

To insure physicians and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put in capsules only. Do not take pills or tablets. Insist on capsules. Smith Drug Co., and leading druggists everywhere. Advertisement.

Transports, battleships and cruisers were thick around there, all at anchor, and it was a great place for a sub to be.

In no time at all the destroyers breezed out with their tails in the air, throwing a smoke screen around the larger ships. They hunted high and low, all over the spot where she had been sighted and all around it, thinking to run it or bring it to the surface, so we could take a crack at it.

"I Saw H. M. S. Goliath Get It"

It. All the rest of the fleet—battleships and transports—weighed anchor at once and steamed ahead at full speed.

It was a great sight. Any new ship coming up would have thought the British and French navies had gone crazy. We did not have any fixed course, but were steaming as fast as we could in circles and half circles, and dashing madly from port to starboard. We were not going to allow that sub to get a straight shot at us, but we almost rammed ourselves doing it. It was a case of chase-tail for every ship in the fleet.

But the sub did not show itself again that day, and we anchored again. That night, while the destroyers were around the ships, we slipped our cables and patrolled the coast along the Australian position at Gaba Tepe, but we did not anchor.

The following day the Albion went ashore in the fog, south of Gaba Tepe, and as soon as the fog lifted the Turks let loose and gave it to her hot. A Turkish ship came up and, with any kind of gunnery, could have raked her fore and aft, but the Turks must have been pretty shy of gun sight, for they only got in one hit before they were driven off by H. M. S. Canopus, which has made such a fine record in this war.

Then the Canopus pulled in close to the Albion, got a wire hawser aboard, and attempted to tow her out under a heavy fire, but as soon as she started pulling, the cable snapped. The crew of the Albion were ordered aft and jumped up on the quarter deck to try and shift the bow off the bank. At the same time the fore turret and the fore six-inch guns opened up a hot fire on the Turkish positions to lighten the ship and shift her by the concussion of the guns. For a long time they could not budge her. Then the Canopus got another hawser aboard and, with guns going and the crew jumping and the Canopus pulling, the old Albion finally slid off and both ships backed into deep water with little harm done to either. Then they returned to their old anchorages.

At Cape Helles every one was wide-awake. We were all on the lookout for subs and you could not find one man napping. Anything at all passed for a periscope—bars, barrels, spurs. Dead horses generally float in the water with one foot sticking up, and we gave the alarm many a time when it was only some old dog on his way to Davy's locker.

On the Cassard the Old Man posted a reward of 50 francs for the first man who sighted a periscope. This was a good idea, but believe me he would have had trouble making the award, for every man on the ship would be sure to see it at the same time. Each man felt sure he would be the man to get the reward. The 14-pounders were loaded and ready for action on a second's notice. But the reward was never claimed.

During our eighth trip off Cape Helles I was amidships in the galley when I heard our two 14-pounders go off almost at the same time. Every body ran for his station. Going up the main deck for his turret a man told me it was a sub on the port bow, but I only caught a glimpse of the little whirlpool where her periscope submerged. I do not know why she did not let loose a torpedo at us. The officers said she was trying to make the entrance to the Dardanelles and came up billed among our ships and was scared off by our guns, but I thought we had just escaped by the skin of our teeth. Later on our destroyers claimed to have sighted her off Gaba Tepe.

At noon we were at mess when one of the boys yelled, "She's hit," and we all rushed on deck. There was the British ship, Triumph, torpedoed and listing away over to starboard. She was ready to turn over in a few minutes. One battleship is not supposed to go to the assistance of another one that has been torpedoed, because the chances are the sub is still in the neighborhood laying for the second ship with another torpedo. But one of the British travelers went to the assistance of the Triumph to pick up the crew.

We could see the crew jumping into the water. Then we breezed out toward the horizon—full speed ahead. All about the Triumph was a cloud of black smoke, but when we looked through the glass we could see she was going down. Then our guns began to bombard the Turkish positions and I had to get busy. When I saw the Triumph again she was bottom up. She must have floated upside down for almost half an hour, then she went down as though there was somebody on the bottom pulling her.

When she went our Old Man banged his telephone on the bridge rail and swore at the Huns and Turks and broke his telescope lens to bits. About fifty from the Triumph were lost.

It was decided that the place was too hot for us with that sub running loose, and when they reported that afternoon that she was making her way south from Gaba Tepe to Cape Helles all of the fleet but the Majestic got under way, and the Majestic was the only ship left off the cape.

They said the Majestic was then the oldest of the ships in that campaign, but she was the pride of the British fleet just the same. She was torpedoed off Cape Helles later on, when there were a number of men-of-war off the cape. The sea was crowded with men swimming and drowning. I saw a lifeboat crowded with men and other men in the water hanging onto her, and there were so many hanging on that they started to pull her under. Of their own accord the men in the water let go to save those in the boat. Most of them were drowned.

The Majestic listed so that the men could not stand on deck, and the sides were covered with men hanging on to ropes and not knowing whether to jump into the sea or not. We lowered all our lifeboats and steam launches, and so did the other ships. We picked up a number of the crew and were pretty close to the Majestic when she went down like a rock. As she went down she turned over and a garby ran along her side to the ram at her bow and got on it without even being wet. A boat picked him up off the ram, which stuck out of the water after the ship had ceased to settle.

She had torpedoed nets on her sides, and many of the crew were unable to get clear of the nets and went down with her. Quite a lot were caught below decks and had no possible chance to escape. There was a big explosion as she went under—probably the boilers bursting. Thousands of troops on shore and thousands of sailors on the ships saw the final plunge, and it was a sight to remember. When the ship started to go, the Old Man rushed back to his cabin, got the signal book and destroyed it. Also, he saved the lives of two of his men.

We gave dry clothes and brandy and coffee to the Limeys we rescued, and though they had just come through something pretty tough, they were calm and cool and started talking right away about what ship they would probably be assigned to next.

CHAPTER XII.

A Pal Crucified.

When we got to "V" Beach on my next trip the weather was really fine, but it did not please us much, for as soon as we got in range the enemy batteries opened up on us and the shell fire was heavier than any we had been in before, though not more effective. We drew in on a bright morning, about half past five or six, with our convoy, the troopship Champagne, ahead of us and going slowly, sounding all the way.

At this part of the shore there is a dock about a mile and a half long, running back into the country and terminating in a road. The Champagne was making for this dock, sounding as she went. Suddenly, when she was within 500 yards of the shore, I saw her swing around and steer in a crazy fashion. We began asking each other what was the matter with her, but we learned afterwards that her rudder had been torn off, though we never found out how, nor do I think anyone ever knew.

Tales of the Friendly Forest

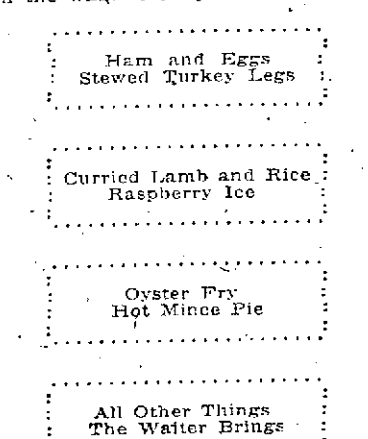

By DAVID CORY

"Dear me!" cried Uncle Lucky, the dear old gentleman rabbit, as he and Billy Bunny rode along, oh, ever so fast in the Luckymobile. "I must get my hair cut. It's so long that it makes a little fringe over my collar!" So pretty soon he stopped before a barber shop and went in, and so did Billy Bunny, for his hair was long, too. Why, it was almost as long as the pigtail of his Chinese laundry friend, friend, Tu Long Tu! But the Chinaman wouldn't have his hair cut. No sireman! Not even if you threw a stone through his front window and broke his iron and the little bowl of goldfish on the shelf. "Shall I shave you first?" asked the barber, who was a kind looking sheep dog who sheared the sheep every year and of course knew how to cut hair. "All right," replied Uncle Lucky, and then he shut his eyes so as not to get any soapuds in them. And while the good, kind sheepdog was shaving him, Billy Bunny had his hair trimmed by the brother of the sheepdog. And the little rabbit had it cut as short as possible so that his school teacher couldn't get hold of it when he missed in spelling.

Well, after a while, the two little rabbits got into the Luckymobile again and rode away, and when it was lunch time, wasn't it lucky, they were right in front of a hotel. So they went inside, and the bellboys, who were little white pigeons, brought them a table and a chair, and when they showed the two rabbits the dining room, and the bill of fare was all written in poetry. Wasn't that funny. Yes, sir! The different dishes were hung up in little black frames. Oh, dear me! I don't mean funny? Yes, sir! The different dishes were all in rhyme and framed on the wall. Now you understand.

"Let's inquire," which means to find out, you know. "What all other things are," said the Old Gentleman Rabbit. And when the waiter said it meant lettuce salad and lollypops and carrot bread and pumpkin cake, Uncle Lucky told him to bring them all right away, for he and his small nephew were as hungry as three bears and a half, and maybe more. And pretty soon Uncle Lucky undid his waistcoat and Billy Bunny began to breathe hard, for they both had eaten every single thing which the kind waiter had put on the table, and after that they paid the check and went out to the desk and told the proprietor, who was a big fat gander, that he had a nice hotel. And then Uncle Lucky bought a cigar and gave all the little white pigeons each a carrot cent. And after that he and Billy Bunny drove away in the Luckymobile, and if they don't stop they'll ride right into tomorrow's story.

WILLOWDALE
Willowdale, July 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Boardman, and Mrs. Clifford Hunt of De Kalb, Ill., and Mrs. D. E. Moon and daughter Dorothy, of De Queen, Ark., were visitors at the Terwilliger home last week.

Will Easton and family of Beardstown, Ill., have returned to their home making the trip by auto.

P. L. Terwilliger and family motored to Marengo, Ill., on Sunday where they attended a family picnic. George Terwilliger and Miss Snow of DeKalb returned with them for a longer visit.

Miss Stella Thernon of Rockford visited at the P. Mooney home on Wednesday.

Dinner Stories

A week after old Bobbin departed this land for one of heavenly bliss, or—well, heavenly bliss! do—his devoted spouse came into the office of the insurance agent to claim the money.

"I'm awfully sorry, madam, to hear of your loss," said a sympathetic clerk.

"That's always the way with men," sighed Mrs. Bobbin. "Always grudging in a poor woman the chance of getting a bit of money these hard times."

The well known London teacher of singing, William Shakespeare, now sojourning in Los Angeles, was recently a guest of Frederic Bacon at the latter's home in Pomona. Now Mr. Shakespeare's ruddy, smiling face is the personification of geniality, and his rather high-pitched speaking voice is in keeping with his looks. The story goes that shortly after his arrival in Pomona he stepped up to the post-office window and inquired:

"I say, my dear sir! Would you kindly tell me if you have any letters for William Shakespeare, care of Mr. Bacon?" The young man at the window eyed the smiling countenance, took note of the voice and remembered the epidemic of Shakespearean tercentenary celebrations breaking out all over the country; he answered:

"Se here, old fellow! You can't pull off any of those stunts on me!"

May I see the mayor?" asked a member of the city council of the former's servant.

"Not at present; he's at dinner."

"But my business is most important."

"I cannot help it, sir. His honor is at steak."

Catarrh is a Real Enemy and Requires Vigorous Treatment

Do Not Neglect It.

When you use medicated sprays, atomizers and douches for your Catarrh, you may succeed in unstopping the choked-up air passages for the time being, but this annoying condition returns, and you have to do the same thing over and over again.

Catarrh has never yet been cured by these local applications. Have you ever experienced any real benefit from such treatment?

Throw these makeshift remedies to the winds, and get on the right treatment. Go to your drug store to-day, get a bottle of S. S. S., and commence a treatment that has been praised by sufferers for nearly half a century. S. S. S. gets right at the source of Catarrh, and forces from the blood the germs which cause the disease. You can obtain special medical advice regarding your own case without charge by writing to Medical Director, 22 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Mother All Ran-Down

Had to Have Health, to Keep House for Four Children—What She Did

Narragansett Pier, R. I.—"I was all run-down, back ached and tired all the time. I keep house for my husband and four children and could hardly keep around. Finally I tried Vinol and it has restored my health and helped me wonderfully, so I recommend it to others who are in this condition."—Mrs. Hannah Randall.

There is no secret about Vinol—it owes its success to beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones and glycerophosphates, the oldest and most famous body-building and strength creating tonics. Smith Drug Co., Janesville; W. J. Smith, Brodhead, and druggists everywhere.

Only One Thing Now Lacking--Money

"I have doctored nine years for stomach and liver trouble and spent thousands of dollars but instead of becoming cured of these ailments, my bloating and pains and attacks became worse. I was persuaded a year ago to take Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and have never suffered since taking the first dose. I wish I had the money back I spent for other medicine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. J. P. Baker and druggists everywhere.

GEORGE CARPENTIER WILL NOT FIGHT

(By Associated Press.)
New York, July 25.—As the result of a decision by the French military authorities, George Carpentier, the European heavyweight champion, will not take part in any further bouts until after the war. This means that Carpentier will not be a contender for the world title until after the war. The French military authorities have decided that Carpentier should be used as a propaganda tool for the war effort. Carpentier has been in the habit of taking on some of the strongest fighters in the world, and so far has demonstrated a marked superiority over all comers.

Promoters had begun negotiations for starting a match between Carpentier and Billy McInnis, the Philadelphia lightweight, who recently outpointed Albert Louis, a promising French heavyweight, in a promising bout. The military authorities, however, have decided that Carpentier should be used as a propaganda tool for the war effort. Carpentier has been in the habit of taking on some of the strongest fighters in the world, and so far has demonstrated a marked superiority over all comers.

FORMED RANDALL CLUB IN CITY LAST EVENING

ALL STARS WILL PLAY DOUBLE HEADER SUNDAY

Sunday at Bailey's diamond the local All-Stars will have a double header on their schedule for the afternoon. The first game of the afternoon will start at 1:30, when the All-Stars will engage with the Monterey Stars. A last game is expected as the All-Stars are put to win this game from their old rival. The second game of the afternoon will start at 3:30 o'clock when the All-Stars will attack the fast Orchard Willets. The line up of the Willets is unknown, but Manager Campbell is signing a second fast player, possibly a young man from Fort Worth, will be shattered. It seems that heretofore young Jacobus, who, by the way, is a native of Cincinnati, has never played with any but first place clubs.

Larry began his career in 1915 with the Portsmouth club of the now defunct Ohio State league, and remained with that club through that season and the one following, and each year it won the pennant. Last year he was with the Dallas club, champions of the Texas league, and obtained by Reds last fall. He was turned out this spring to the Fort Worth club, which was leading the Texas league when that organization suspended operations for the duration of the war.

MORRIS MILLER

Gavvy Cravath, the Phillies' great slugging outfielder, has cracked out 200 home runs since he began his career as a ball player with Los Angeles sixteen years ago. Cravath has made 100 in the major leagues. He has played on five different teams, starting with Los Angeles in 1903. He played on that team until 1907. He went to Boston in 1907, and was with the White Sox in 1909, and also during that season played with Washington and Minneapolis. At Minneapolis in 1911 he registered twenty-nine home runs and made forty-seven in three years with that team.

In the first time at bat for Los Angeles he cracked out a circuit drive, and duplicated the performance the first time he was called upon to bat for the Phillies. Powell, Kell and Rehrig in the outfield make the Second naval district baseball team look like a major club, as paper at last. The trio guarded the garden for the Braves before the Kaiser tackled the world.

Clarence Spears, all-American guard, has again signed up as head coach at Dartmouth college. The success of his light squad last season has strengthened him in the opinion of all Hanover graduates. No assistant will work with him. A depleted treasury causes Graduate Manager Hildreth to cut to the bone on all expenses.

Marty O'Toole and Billy Kelly, who leaped to fame as the $25,000 battery a few years ago and faded in the show—are battery mates now in Omaha. How much are we bid for them?

The Yankees and White Sox players are still discussing the unique records hung up by their clubs in their recent series. They played a double-header on one of the days. The two clubs played a double-header in which the Yankees won the first game and the White Sox won the second. The Yankees won the first game and the White Sox won the second.

We lamp that Al Orth, former American league pitcher and umpire, may go to France for the Y. M. C. A. as athletic director. Any man who has faced big league batters for years and then has taken the abuse of fans as an umpire ought to feel at home in the war.

Henri Groh bids fair to lead the National league in batting this season. He is going like a whirlwind now. If he does cap the crown it will be the third year in succession that a Redder has shown his heels to the league in that department. Two years ago Hal Chase set the pace. Last year Eddie Rousch led the field.

Dame rumor now has that Hans Wagner may break back into the National league. Hans retired last year. Now he has been playing ball in Pittsburgh with the service team and is in the "pink" again. Hans and his manager, who says: "I sure do like to hit that ball."

One of the oddities of baseball is that the St. Louis Browns, always a mediocre club, causes Walter Johnson, king of hurlers, more trouble than any other club in the American league.

There's a certain type of player in the big league who delivers the goods right along, but about whom little is said. Duke Fuskert is of this type. He has been in the big show for years. He has always played sparkling ball. His work at bat and behind this year is better than ever.

Many of the Cubans now playing baseball in the big leagues and bush circuits may hear a small—but authoritative—voice calling them soon to do their bit in the Cuban army. The Cuban government is considering their case. We hope none of them follows Joe Jackson's example. He sure did set a fine one.

Joe Benz was booked to be a second string hurler for the White Sox until war and fear of war kept him out. Now he's a regular and winning regularly, too.

The Yankees played their forty-third game of the season at the Polo grounds recently, and are still waiting for the first homer into the left field bleachers. For some unknown reason the Huggins players find it impossible to drive the ball into the left field seats, while players of other clubs hit many a homer into this section. Joe Wood has played only eight games on the Harlem meadow this season, and he can boast of four drives into those left-field seats. George Burns, Clarence Walker, Howard Shanks, Steve O'Neill and the others have also found the range, but not one member of the Huggins Hammerers has been able to turn the trick. The Yankees passed the half way mark in their home run race when the White Sox were visiting them recently.

Frank Shellenbach, young White Sox hurler, is a product of the Chicago sandlots. The fans are strong for him and are hoping he stays with the Sox.

The Boston Red Sox, though changed greatly in personnel within the past year, are showing all the traits of the Red Sox teams which won the American league pennants in 1915 and 1918 and battled the White Sox for the title last year. These Boston teams made a specialty of winning by one run and making late rallies, also in taking low score games. High class pitching made only two of JAP TENNIS STAR COMING TO U. S.

ICHII KUMAGAE

New York friends of Ichii Kumagae, famous Japanese tennis player, have received word that he plans to come to America soon and will be ready to engage in the tennis tournaments. The Jap flash was in the U. S. a few seasons ago and played remarkable tennis. He returned home two years ago. Business has kept him there until now.

Three runs by Boston enough to win. Since those days Ruth has given up pitching. Shore has gone into the navy and Leonard has quit the team, but high class pitching again prevails. Furthermore, the Sox are winning one run games by late rallies. It is a dangerous club and is sure to be in the thick of the pennant chase all the way.

An organization known as the National Tennis and War Relief association has begun a country-wide series of net tournaments which promise to earn a large sum of money for war purposes. Each woman in each tournament is expected to hold a tournament in which eight women will enter. Each of these eight must stage a tourney in which four women will enter. It is believed this method will take the tournaments into every city in the country.

Small golf courses of three, five or nine holes may be placed in army and navy training camps next year for the recreation of the boys in service. Officials of the training camp and the division of the war have approved the plan. Camp commanders have been asked their opinions. If the courses are laid out golfers all over the country will be asked to send their old clubs to the boys. It's a cinch they'll be glad to aid the boys.

Ancients Used Window Glass

From the evidence contained in the ruins of ancient temples of Greece and Rome it seems certain that windows as a vehicle for the admission of light and air into the interior of a hall or room were in use as long as 500 B. C.

Function of Art

Truer words were never spoken by Schiller than when he said: "Where and whenever art deteriorates, it is always the fault of the artists." The function of art is to educate, and elevate, and when it fails to do this, it fails in its mission.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

N. B. By the Editor:

It is peculiar that this office on the same day on the same subject, and from participants in two wars that have been completed and one from the war now in act, and a third from a former resident of England, and all dealing with the respect to when it passes in line of the United States flag in this connection the complaints which are filed below are absolutely justified and in any other community would not be tolerated for a minute, on the part of any citizen. Every hat should be raised when the United States flag—the Stars and Stripes—passes, and the men who fall should be taught a lesson. It is disrespectful to the men who actually fighting and encouragement to the enemy, to find a community devoid of enough patriotism to doff the hat when the glorious flag passes by.

From Sixty One
I made a trip to Jamesville by auto from Edgerton, Thursday, to carry a flag in a procession that sent my grandson to the national army. That flag means more to me than you can tell, yet I saw many a man in Jamesville who failed to salute it take off his starry banner I fought under in the Sixties. Why is it. Are they ignorant or are they pro-Germans? The man who does not salute the flag is one of the two.

A Member of the G. A. R.

From Ninety Eight

To the Editor:
Of course, in Ninety-Eight, the observance of the flag in passing in parade was not so exacting, but I noticed today that few uncovered their hats or showed any reverence to the starry banner I fought under in the Sixties. Why is it. Are they ignorant or are they pro-Germans? The man who does not salute the flag is one of the two.

From Camp Grant

To the Editor:
I am not from Jamesville. I come from a northern part of the state, but I watched the parade for the selective draft men, Thursday, and stood at attention when the veterans of Edgerton passed. I looked around in surprise to find a dozen men had their hats still on and could not understand it. Is this town pro-German or do they not know what is due the flag when it passes? I trust the latter, for my father was German, and one of my brothers is over there, and I want to go as soon as I can, but still I want to go feeling the flag stands for what we believe it does, in the hearts of all, and neglect of reverence of it is not encouraging.

A Selective Draft Man - From England

To the Editor:
Come to England if you want respect for the Stars and Stripes. When it is displayed in London every Englishman uncovers when he passes it. It means liberty to the world, and we reverence it. Failure to honor the flag we love so well today in England by the American citizens is either ignorance or contempt. Let us hope it is ignorance. Hats off when the flag passes that leads your boys and my comrades into battle. The Stars and Stripes.

Editor Gazette:

Like to call the attention of the people of Jamesville, to the condition that exists at the swimming pool, at Goose Island. Small boys are allowed to cross the river without any attendants, only with water wings, and small boys go too far out in the river without any attendants, also after certain hours small boys are left in the water without any guards on duty. This is a very dangerous practice and should be stopped at once.

The undersigned was at Goose Island about two hours and the life guard was on duty only about ten minutes of that time, and this was yesterday afternoon from 4 to 6 p. m. Alderman Horn.
